Jerusalem: The Next 50 Years

RABBI MICHAEL S. FRIEDMAN, SENIOR RABBI

In June of 1967, in response to military provocation and economic strangulation by its Arab neighbors, Israel launched a defensive war for its own survival. Though vastly outnumbered, the Israel Defense Forces achieved miraculous success, conquering the West Bank, Gaza Strip, Golan Heights and Sinai Peninsula in less than a week. This spring thus marks the 50th anniversary of Israel's momentous victory in the Six-Day War.

The triumph is as pivotal an event as any in the history of the Jewish people. Israel's victory greatly enlarged the territory of the State of Israel, providing a measure of security for the young nation. Israel's victory brought significant non-Jewish populations under Israeli control, the implications of which continue to shape the region. Most significantly, Israel's victory reunified our eternal capital, Jerusalem, once again giving Jews access to the Old City and the Kotel (Western Wall).

There is both deep pride and significant complexity present in this 50th anniversary.

Thus this anniversary is an opportunity for all of us. Starting with Passover and continuing through early June we will embark on a congregation-wide journey of learning and engagement entitled Jerusalem: The Next 50 Years.

We will take advantage of this anniversary to learn about and engage with Jerusalem in a range of modes across all age groups. Jerusalem will figure prominently in our worship. We will host guest teachers and lecturers who will teach us about Jerusalem past and present. Our early childhood and religious school students will embark on projects designed to teach them about Jerusalem.

Our holy city, Jerusalem, will be at the center of our consciousness this spring. We invite you to join us in learning, exploring, debating and imagining during the season of this 50th anniversary.

May Jerusalem's history enlighten us. May her majesty lift us. May her complexity challenge us. May her future inspire us.

MEET OUR INCOMING ASSISTANT RABBI, DANNY MOSS

Dear Temple Israel,

I feel thrilled and honored to join the fantastic team at Temple Israel! In my initial conversations with congregants and staff, I have been delighted to connect with people who care so passionately about what Judaism offers to us and to the world.

I treasure Judaism for its wisdom and ethical guidance. I am proud to explore the roots of our ancient tradition, rejoicing in the transformative possibilities when we join together in common purpose. As I prepare to transition into my role as assistant rabbi this summer, I look forward to getting to know the many people who make Temple Israel such a special place. See you soon!

Blessings,
Danny Moss

Danny Moss is a fifth-year rabbinical student at Hebrew Union College - Jewish Institute of Religion. He anticipates receiving rabbinic ordination in May. A Chicago native, Danny graduated from Oberlin College with degrees in Jewish Studies and Comparative Religion. After graduation, Danny's passion for Jewish communal work led him to Temple Micah in Washington, D.C., where he served for several years as an educator and youth director. Danny is a 15-summer alumnus of Union for Reform Judaism Camp OSRUI (Oconomowoc, Wis.), where powerful, formative, frequently musical Jewish experiences meaningfully shaped his life's trajectory. Danny plays guitar, piano, trumpet, and mandolin, and has studied cantorial arts. He is also proud to have lived and studied in Israel for two years. Since beginning rabbinical school, he served as a tour guide for teens in Europe and Israel; administered the tefilah curriculum at Congregation Emanu-El of New York City; and served as a critical care chaplain at a Chicago hospital. He recently completed internships at Fairmount Temple (Cleveland) and Temple Israel (Boston). This year he is serving Brooklyn Heights Synagogue. In his free time, Danny enjoys reading, tennis, folk and improvisational music, and exploring the great outdoors!
